Camp Nelson, Kentucky.

Its Location and Strength --- Its Improvements--Its Government, Operations, &c.

EDS. PRESS: The unwritten history of this post is of such importance as to justify a place in your columns. It is located, as is generally known, some 18 miles south of Lexington, and by this position naturally protects Central Kentucky, and the cities of Lexington, Covington and Cincinnati, with their thoroughfares thence to the front. It was organized in 1862, at the instance General Burnside, on account of its position and its natural advantages of military strength, to serve as a transporting point thence to East Tennessee. It includes some six or seven square miles, and only requires about one mile of earthworks to be manned for defense, while the remaining lines are rendered impregnable by the circuitous and perpendicular cliffs of the Kentucky river, which rise some two or three hundred feet high. From these considerations it is the Gibraltar of Kentucky.

This camp contains not only the ordinary quarters of a Post, but is furnished with quarters of a Post, but is furnished with extensive storerooms for quartermaster's and commissary's supplies; with wagon yards covering acres of room; with immense stables for a thousand horses; with corals for the safe keeping of government stock on a large scale; with vast granaries, hay sheds, wood sheds, &c. All this indeed is but a small part. Numerous smith shops are constantly making or repairing the means of transportation, such as wagons, ambulances, transfers, tools, &c. A saw mill and carpenters factory driven by steam, make and dress lumber, shingles, lath and every thing in that line necessary for building purposes, all of which is more than remunerating for the outlay. Besides the residences of officers and there is a large general hospital with capacities to accommodate 2,000 patients. The United States Sanitary Commission have erected, and by their agent, Mr. Butler, are successfully supplying this post with a model Soldiers' Home. It is tastefully arranged, cleanly kept, and religiously erned, and one of the best in the There are also many cottages for the refu-gee camp, where homeless and helpless families are temporarily housed till they can do better. A large and rapidly increasing colored refugee camp is also established, to accommodate which quite a village of houses, workshops and gardens are provided, and industrial pursuits are inaugurated. Hither are gathering the wives, children and dependencies of the several thousands of colored troops who enlisted at the post. And in addition to all this should be mentioned the ample water works on the river, throwing an eight inch column of water four hundred and eighty feet high into the reservoir, whence it is distributed to all necessary parts of the camp by iron pipes. These varied and val-uable improvements have been constructed at a cost of less than two million dollars, and are rapidly remunerating the United tates for their cost.

It is apparent to all that a post working so extensively, with raw recruits as its basis, and filled with a refugee element of all races and both sexes, must be a difficult task, and require military skill and govern-ing ability in order to success. Brigadier General Speed S. Fry, who was early in charge of this post, and who has command-ed most of the time, has had this responsibility. And worthly has he met it, as the military works and the improvements of the post indicate; for it was under his auspices, assisted ably by the energetic labors of Captain Hall, Q. M., that this vast work was done. Greater embarrassments work was done. Greater emparrassments arise out of the heterogeneous mass to be governed, and controverted policies adopted by the War Department. Cotemporaneous with the law providing for the enlistment of colored troops, and prior to instructions reaching posts on the 28th of May, 1864, many colored men, came into camp. Nelson for enlistment. General Fry was then commanding at another point, and Colonel Clark, then commanding here, having doubts as to his authority, did not receive them. The soldiers' home under its authority to feed refugees drey retirent retirements. authority to feed refugees drew rations and fed them. They crowded the camp by their fed them. They crowded the camp by their continual coming, and were under proper orders, received and mustered into service until up to this time not less than 10,000 colored troops have been received, trained, and sent out in the Federal army.

It has been erroneously charged on Fry that he rejected these troops and thus opposed the Government; but nothing is more false, as the General was then not in command, and the sequel shows him a warm defender of Mr. Lincoln and a supporter of his re-election. It is thought that the cause of this attack upon the General was, that he carried out the orders of Adjutant Gen-eral Thomas to rid the camp of colored refugee women; who it was clearly known were exerting a demoralizing effect upon the soldiery. This was wantonly tortured into an act of brutality, when the truth is no man is more scrupulously humane than General Fry, These are only a few out of the very many difficulties that environ the Commandant of a post such as Camp Nelon. But few indeed will be the men who shall command so long and so acceptably as has the General, through such a tempest and revolution of public opinion. His ene-mies are comprised only of the vicious and the mistaken, and are few and growing less. Camp Nelson has served its purpose well as a military post, and should the war speedily close, and its military value cease, it may yet remain as the Canaan of the fleeing slave, and a house of refuge to the down trodden poor, J. P. PELL, 12th Ky. Cavalry.

SHERMAN'S ARMY.

A distinguished Kentucky officer belonging to the Twenty-third army corps, got a sight at Sherman's columns, near Kinston, In a private letter he says:

Sherman's column presented a curious sight. Many men were barefooted, many sight. Many men were barefooted, many without coats, and some partially clad in rebel uniforms; thousands bestrode captured animals—horses, mules, jacks, and even oxen, but every man looked well-fed and hearty. Indeed, each one carried on his own back, or upon his mule, his donkey, his ox, or in his cart, buggy, or carriage, his pots and ovens, and with them always pigs, greese, claickens, turkeys, lambs, sweet corps,—half review and half something else, not named in the regulations. He was greeted with that reverential applause that bespeaks the popularity and high esteem won by none save the truly great; those who possess great ideas, and execute them grandly and successfully, and who have heart-goodness as well as intellect. He looks thin and worn, but in excellent health otherwise, and is now nearly ready for another campaign. We have been admonished to prepare at once, and are now engaged in that preparation for an active and nard campaign. I presume a few more days will see the combined armies, led on by the man whose sword-flash inspires as much terror to traitors, as it does confidence among patriots.

Our correspondent says Sherman's men are ready to go wherever he directs the march. They are careless where it may be, perfectly content with the feeling that he knows, and that they can do whatever he may order. Our friend adds: There is a strong belief in this army that the fighting qualities, herefofore evinced by the rebels, are fast disappearing. The old foe at the West, Hood's army, is here, but his spirit is gone. Kinston proved this. Neither a dog nor a rebel, it matters not how loud he barks, nor how much brutecourage nature gave him, can stand to be thrashed, pelted, whipped continually and systematically without losing confidence in hims. If. The popular belief is founded on reason. The rebels are failing in those splendid martial qualities they were wont to vaunt and, to some degree exhibit, while our men are daily becoming better soldiers There is a strong belief in this army that our men are daily becoming better soldiers and are filled with a confidence that is so perfect and confiding, it might seem to have been born of Heaven. This confidence will not be abused, and if the discipline of this army is kept to the proper standard, it is just as impossible to whip it, to demolalize it with blows from the rebel army as it is for treason to be right, and the traitor good.

The cause ascribed by our correspondent for the loss of the martial qualities of the rebels is not by any means new in history. It was not the Athenians, flushed with the victory at Marathon, who hung back from Platea and Salamis, but it was the A saw mill and carpenters factory driven | Spartans benumbed by memories of Thermopyla. The rebel cause is gone beyond the power of recuperation. It has enacted its part in the world's history and has founded an empire of Freedom that all the powers of the world cannot shake. Having shown its vast powers of wickedness, it is now proper that it shall disappear from the drama of great events, and show its hide ous face no more among the nations.

THE DEMORALIZATION OF REBEL-DOM-GEN. ROBERT E. LEE.

It is doubtful whether the annals of time ever recorded a degree of turpitude, of false hood, of fiendishness that makes any approach to the daily exhibitions of those vices among the rebels. The organs that express public sentiment seem to be dead alike to truth and common sense. The rebel papers have teemed for months with falsehood piled on falsehood respecting what they called Sherman's atrocities in the captured towns of the great campaign. The bject was to gain advantages by lying which could not be earned by truth and de cency. Robert E. Lee and Governor Billy Smith have made an admirable commentary on all this rebel lying. General Lee left his wife and daughter in Petersburg, perfectly conscious that they were much safer mong the Federal authorities than in any rebel bivouac to which he could take them. And Governor Billy Smith left his family in Richmond, well assured that he could not take them to a more happy home than they would find among the well-ordered legions of the Federal army.

ALL FOOLS' DAY IN RICHMOND. The Richmond Whig, in its dying rebel gasping of the 1st of April, warned the citizens of Richmond not to be taken in by news of great disasters to the rebel armies. It did not wait until its Monday morning publication to explain what had become of Lee's army, or to tell its excited readers whether they might believe that John C. Breckinridge had played the fire-incendiary on a large scale, and burned over one thousand houses in the city of Richmond, How must the "chivalric" John C. Breckinridge be endeared to rebeldom in showing that monster that, though he could not fire the

MONDAY, APRIL 10, 1865.

News of the Day.

Hozanna in excelsis! General Robert E. Lee yesterday surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia to Lieutenant General Ulysses S. Grant. The officers and men to stack their arms and go home, paroled to obey the Constitution and the Laws pledged not again to take up arms against the Nation.

Let those who are disposed to find fault with the terms accorded reflect to what homes these misguided men are going. Yesterday proud, powerful and self-reliant, to-day humbled to the very dust, their houses desolated by fire and sword, their friends dead or scattered, life will be to them a burden and memory a curse. They go home, bearing with them the terribly suggestive words of their conqueror, to save thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of property not yet destroyed. Few of them will ever call down upon their heads the full measure of vengeance.

The surrender appears to have been made tn Appomattox county, nearly a hundred miles west of Richmond. History records no parallel to this pursuit. An army that fights five days and then marches a hundred miles in six, cannot be whipped. Correspondents tell us that even in the fight the brave soldiers had not enough to eat, There may be provisions rotting to the rear; they at the front must yet fight upon empty stomachs the second day and the turn at bay. Our quartermasters and comand build railroads. But they might as in the rebel leaders. well undertake to keep up with forked lightning as with such a pursuit. In another hundred years chroniclers will point to it as the marked feature of the war. The organs of treason which have declared so often that the capture of Richmond did not involve the destruction of the rebel army may console themselves with the reflection that Grant's Pursuit did.

The nation will be drunk with joy, There needs but one more triumph-the dispersion of Johnston's army. Let us hope that this is reserved for the field marshal who has so well earned the right to it, the invincible Sherman. And let us hope that the realization of the end will find the people calm, self-controlled, justly merciful, and humbly thankful, not unmindful of the work which destiny has

EXCHANGED PRISONERS ATVICKS-

A large number of our prisoners from Andersonville and other rebel dens of torture, are now coming into Vicksburg. An agent of that ever-watchful, all-bountiful organization, that systematized Providence, the U.S. Sanitary Commission, was sent thither some two weeks or more ago, with a splendid cargo of supplies, in anticipation of the arrival of these sufferers. He arrived in Vicksburg April 1st. We are permitted to quote from a private letter written by him on the 2d:

There are now in camp, four miles from here, about 4,000 prisoners, and more are coming in every day. Those who came in first were from Cahawba and were in much better condition than those now coming in, who are from Andersonville. The latter are in a very feeble and distressing condiare in a very feeble and distressing contained theory train containing more or less who have died on the road. Yesterday an ambulance came in which started from Jackson with four men, and when it arrived they were all dead. Large trains of ambulances are running between Black river these who are too. and Jackson, bringing those who are too feeble to walk. The city hospitals are be-ing emptied to make room for them, and tween ten and fifteen thousand will be brought here.

The writer mentions amongst other supplies for which he makes requisition, tobacco. He says:

The men are greedy, ravenous, for tobac-co, and famished as they are, they are wil-ling to trade a part of their rations for it.

The destitution of the men in the matter of clothing, and all the unmistakable symptoms of starvation, are noted here as at all deprive the name of a very, specific and the points where our prisoners have been brought in for exchange. The writer says men are coming in

The day on which the old flag is to be raised is Good Friday, on which occurred the resurrection of the Saviour, and as Christ was raised to bring life and liberty into the world, so will that flag carry renewed life and true liberty to the South.

Now Good Friday is commemorated as the day of the Crucifixion of the Saviour, and as Mr. Beecher has traveled on the Cono, we are very willing to let the unhappy creature stand if it can. It don't strike us as being in a very eminently perpendicular position just at this crisis. And beyond an occasional kick in the Democrat office, we don't see any manifestation of a desire on its part to use its attenuated legs in any way, much less in any attempt to stand.

and as Mr. Beecher has traveled on the Continent of Europe, he should know that the Protestants of Europe consider Good Friday as the most solemn of all the festivals of the Church. Easter or Passover is kept as the resurrection day by those who observe these days. Christ is nowhere called our Good Friday, but inspiration speaks of him as "our Passover." In placing this new and greatly improved edition before the public, it is due to the distinguished authors to say that although it has been for years in course of preparation, this delay in its issue has teen absolutely necessary, in order that advantage might by taken, in its final ravision, of the new edition of the British Pharmacoreia (fast published) and other works and means of information, until very recently inaccessible to the public.

No pains or expense has been spared to render the work complete in all particulars, and it is believed that the advantages rajoyed by the authors have enabled them to revise it with a thoroughness that will fully sustain its acknowledged superiority over all yther works of the kind, at leave nothing to be desired in the departments of which it treats.

The following extract from the Preface, in a measure indicates the important modifications which the work has undergone in the pre paration of the present edition:

"By some loca may be formed of the amount of the wind and the space gained by the consolidation of the three British Pharmacopecias into one, and the consequent substitution, in many instances, of a single process and its necessary commentary for three and notwithstanding the ewest possible words, and to leave no part of the space for the space with the provision when the limits of the work by more than one hundred respectively in the revision that there has been no one, since the tispensator years or girally published, which has been attended with so much lator, or in which the work has undergone romany modifications and additions." in exhibiting MANY NEW AND DESIRABLE

JUSTICE OVERTAKING THE WICKED .- An old gentleman from one of the counties below here, appeared at the Provost Marshal's office Saturday and asked permission to visit the different prisons where guerrillas were confined, stating that his son had been murdered by a band of guerrillas some time before, and he believed some of them had been since captured, and he desired to identify them. He said he had marked the one who had shot his son, and would recognize him at once if he was here in prison. Of course his request was at once granted. At the prison on Second street he recognized two of the prisoners as having belonged to the band of outlaws and murderers who had robbed him and killed his son. He visited ali the other prisons, and many of the outlaws tremble at meeting his searching look, as they thought he might prove their accuser; but he did not find the one who had actually committed the murder. He re-turned to the Provost Marshal's office and made an affidavit against the two men whom he had identified in the prison on Second street, and also gave the name and a description of the guerrilla who had mur-dered his son, in order that in case he should be captured at any time thereafter he might be known. The old man had left the office but a short time when a man in Confederate gray came in and expressed a desire to take the oath, stating that he was a Confederate soldier. He gave his name, and was at once identified as the person whom the old gentleman who had just left, charged with having murdered his son. He was at once placed under arrest, and is now in prison, heavily ironed.

Soldier Killed.—A soldier named Stephen Shipley, of Co. C, 44th Ill., Infantry, was killed Saturday afternoon, while coming to this city on the passenger train from Nashville. About twenty miles below the city, he attempted to pass from one end of a car to the other end, when the train was in motion, by means of the iron rods on the side of the car, and while attempting to do so the train approached a water tank against which, without seeing it, he struck, knocking him from the car and instantly killing him. He had been on duty at Barracks No. 1, for some time before, and was on his return from Nashville, where he had been sent as a guard to some prisoners, when he was killed. The boys at the Barracks have generously contributed money enough to have his body sent to his home

PEACE PROPOSITIONS—COMMISSIONERS TO BE APPOINTED,—Inasmuch as the Presiden (Mollenhauer), in his proclamation pub lished this morning disfranchises the rebets, Maretzek and others, expelling them from membership in the "National Piano Forte Association," outsiders are becoming in-terested—and fearing that the Kentucky public will be unable to keep neutral, and that in taking sides, no pianos will be called for but Weber's or Steinway's and Chick-ERINGS-these outsiders (dealers) are striving to have hostilities suspended. They are for no more men(tion of) and no more money for these particular instruments. Their only chance is to do a little guerrillaing on their own account.

An army officer wishes us to disabuse the minds of tradesmen in general o the mistaken idea that, because a man wears blue and brass, he must necessarily have an interest in a gold mine or an oil well. Officers are charged two prices for everything they buy under this erroneous idea, when, in fact, they find it exceedingly difficult to keep themselves decently clothed, and liquidate their mess bills, out of their pay. The tailor bleeds them, the barber charges them twenty cents while he shaves people for fifteen, the newsboy sticks on an additional five cents, hackmen are erciless, and even the ragged little bootblack charges them double price to 'em up, sir,''-[Ind. Journal.

HARBORING DESERTERS,-William Ridge, who lives somewhere in the upper part of the city, was arrested yesterday for harboring two deserters, John Ludwick and Thomas Ridge, both of Company B, 4th Kentucky Cavalry. The two deserters were also arrested. Ludwick has been arrested ten times for desertion. William rested ten times for desertion. Wi Ridge is the father of Thomas Ridge. William LOUISVILLE THEATER.-The matinee on Saturday was well attended, and Miss Elise performed the French Spy most admirably. The bombs introduced in the battle in the first act gave a genuine imitation of war, and a beautiful pyrotechnic display. The house should have been jammed, as the price to matinees has been reduced to 25 cents. The management in a proper spirit have also reduced the price of admission to the family circle to 35 cents, and reserved seats in the dress circle and parquette with out extra charge, as appears from their advertisement to-day. The lovers of fun will have a full treat this week, as the inimitable Frank Drew has been re-engaged, with funny William Scallan and droll S. W. Ashley, making a comedy combination never equalled in Louisville. We expect to never equalled in Louisville. W see crowded houses every night.

PRESENTATION AT THE CIRCUS.-A Very pleasant little incident occurred at the circus on Saturday afternoon. After Mr. Jas. Robinson had performed his wonderful feat of horseback riding and summersaulting, he was called out into the ring, and presented, in behalf of his many friends and admirers in this city, with a very hand-some and costly gold watch. It was evi-dently a surprise, but Mr. Robinson was equal to the occasion, and, in accepting the gift, made a very neat speech, expressing his thanks for the rich token of friendship. Before he could get out of the ring a gen-tleman advanced and presented him also with a gold-mounted riding whip, for which estly thanked his friends, and retired amid the enthusiastic applause of the

[For the Union Press] LOUISVILLE, April 8, 1865. MESSRS, EDITORS: Please insert the accompanying circular, and announce that the gentlemen named as collectors will begin their work this day, Monday, April 10, and finish it as early as the 1st day of June. Yours, respectfully, JOHN L. McKEE, President.

WM. H. BUCKLY, Rec. Sec. This society is making a special effort to place a copy of the Word of God on every steamboat navigating the Ohio river at this point; in each room of all our hotels and public Institutions; and in every destitute family in the city of Louisville and county of Jefferson.

As arrangements have been made for the accomplishment of this work without expense, except the prime cost of the books, it is estimated that not more than $7,500 will be required.

The Bible Society, restricted to its one work, of circulating the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment, rises nobly above every thing like partizan strife, sectional prejudice, or sectional rancor. All are in-terested in its success, because the Book of God dispenses light and blessedness for the whole human family.

We therefore confidently appeal to all classes of our fellow citizens for aid in this important undertaking.

to make collections, will call upon the people of Louisville within a few days:

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, April 9 P. M.—This Department has just received official reports of the surrender this day of General Lee and his army to Lieutenant General Grant, on the terms proposed by General Grant. The details will be given as speedily as possible.

E. M. STANTON, Sec'y of War. HEADQUARTERS'ARMIES OF THE UNITED STATES, April 9, 1865, 4 P. M.-Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: GENERAL LEE SURRENDERED THE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA THIS AFTER-NOON UPON TERMS PROPOSED BY MYSELF. The accompanying correspondence will show the conditions fully.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut, Gen. APRIL 9th 1865.—General: I received your note of this morning on the picket line, whither I had come to meet you and ascertain definitely what terms were embraced in your proposition of yesterday with reference to the surrender of this army. I now request an interview in accordance with the order contained in your letter of yesterday for that purpose.

> Very respectfully, Your obdient servant,

R. E. LEE, General. To Lt. Gen. U. S. Grant, commanding armies U. S. A.

APRIL 9, 1865 .- Gen. R. E. Lee, commanding army C. S. A.-General: Your note of this day is but this moment (11 50 A. M.) received, in consequence of having passed from the Richmond and Lynchburg road to the Farmville and Lynchburg. I am thus writing about four miles west of Walter's church, and will push forward to the front for the purpose of meeting you Notice sent to me on this road where you wish the interview to take place, will mee: Very respectfully. Your obedient servant.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut. Gen. APPOMATTOX C. H., April 9.—Gen. R. E. Lee, commanding C. S. A.: In accordance with the substance of my letter to you of the 8th inst., I propose to receive the surrender by the Army of Northern Virginia on the following terms, to-wit: Rolls of all the officers and men to be made in duplicate, one copy to be given to an officer designated by me, the other to be retained by such officer or officers as you may designate. The officers to give their individual parole not to take up arms against the Government of the United States until properly exchanged, and each company or regimental commander to sign a like parole for the men of his command; the arms, artillery and public property to be parked or stacked, and turned over to the officers appointed by me to receive them. This will not embrace the side-arms of the officers or their private horses or baggage. This done, each officer and man will be allowed TO RETURN TO HIS HOME, not to be disturbed by the United States authority so long as they observe their parole and the laws in force where they may re-Very respectfully, side.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut. Gen. HEADQUARTERS ARMY NORTHERN VIR-GINIA, April 9, 1865.—Lieut. General U. S. Grant, commanding U. S. A .- General: I have received your letter of this date, containing the terms of surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia, as proposed by you As they are substantially the same as those expressed in your letter of the 8th inst., THEY ARE ACCEPTED. I will proceed to designate the proper officers to carry the stipulations into effect.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

R. E. LEE, General. The following is the correspondence between Lt. Gen. Grant and Gen. Lee referred to in the foregoing telegram to the Secretary of War:

CLIPTON HOUSE, VA., April 9, 1865—To
Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War—
The following correspondence has taken place between Gen. Lee and myself. There has been no relaxation in the pursuit during its pendency.
U. S. GRANT. rv of War: ring its pendency.

APRIL 7th 1865 .- General R. E. Lee, Comnanding C. S. A. GENERAL: The result of the last week must convince you of the hopelessness of further resistance on the part of the army of Northern Virginia in this struggle. I feel that it is so, and regard it as my duty to shift from myself the responsibility of any further effusion of blood by asking of you the surrender of that portion of the C. S. Army known as the army of Northern Commanding Armies U.S. APRIL 7, 1865 .- General: I have received our note of this date; though not entirely of the opinion you express as to the hope-lessness of further resistance on the part of the army of Northern Virginia, I reciprocate your desire to avoid useless effusion of blood, and, therefore, before considering your proposition, ask the terms you will offer on condition of its surrender.

R. E. LEE, General. To Lt. Gen. U. S. Grant, Commanding armies of the U. S.

APRIL 8, 1865-To Gen. R. E. Lee, commanding C. S. A.—General—Your note of last evening in reply to mine of the same date, asking the conditions upon which I will accept the surreuder of the Army of Northern Virginia, is just received. In reply I will say that peace being my first desire there is but one condition. I insist upon sire, there is but one condition I insist upon, viz: That the men surrendered shall be disqualified from taking up arms again against the Government of the United States until properly exchanged. I will meet you or designate officers to meet any officers you may name, for the purpose of arranging definitely the terms upon which the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia will be received.

Very respectfully,
Your obd't servant,

APRIL, 8, 1865.—GENERAL: I received at to mine of yesterday. I did not intend to propose the surrender of the army of North-proposition. To be frank, I do not think the emergency has arisen to call for the surrender of this army; but as the restoration of peace should be the sole object of all, I desire to know whether your proposels would tend to that end. I would not therefore meet you with a view to sur-render the Army of Northern Virginia, but as far as your proposition may affect the Confederate States forces under my command, and tend to the restoration of peace, I should be pleased to meet you at 10 A. M. to-morrow, on the old stage road to Richmond, between the picket lines of the two rmies.

SYMPTOMS.

The Symtoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Per sons find they have a cold, then they have frequent at tacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of tempera ture. In this condition, the mese may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterward thick and adhes

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are in creased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The se retions are offersive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is essened or desiroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy nucceus, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs and should I se no time in arresting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrhal sympton

ON THE 12TH OF APRIL WILL BE PUBLISHED

HOURS AT HOME:

A popular Magazine of Religious and Useful Literature; edited by James M Shermood.

HOURS AT HOME is designed to stand among our monthly magazines as the representative of the religious element of American literature. Besides articles on purely religious subjects, it will contain Reviews of Books, Biographical and Historical Sketches; Poetry, Notes of Travel, Moral Tales, Papers on Popular Science, and essays upon Miscelianeous Topics. Discarding the frivolous, the irreligious and corrupting, it will furnish a pure, healthful and instructive literature; it will be animated also by a thoroughly catholic spirit, so that it may belong to the entire American church. In brief, HOURS AT HOME will aim to be what its name indicales a Family Magazine, unexceptionable in all its teachings, elevated in tone and useful; at the same time it will strive to render itself an invaluable aid to the Sunday-school teacher, and a welcome visitor to the study of every paster.

While HOURS AT HOME will be thoroughly American.

while HOURS AT HOME will be thoroughly American the editor wil avail bimself of the choicest materials furnished by the Foreign Religious Magazines. The arti-cles will be short, varied and sprightly. No expense will be spared to make it equal to any magazine in the country in mechanical execution and general appearance. Each number will contain 95 pages royal octavo, double col-umns.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

The market has been very much unsettled all the week with as many varied phases in tone and prices as there is and all parties are undecided in their own views in regard to future prospects. The country and jobbing trade has been moderately active, especially in groceries. Dry goods, drugs, and manufactured articles rule as low as in New York. The weather has been variable, with con siderable heavy rain at the first of the week, but clear though rather cool for several days, but, we believe, no frosts have fallen. The prospects of fruit are very favorable, and peaches bid fair to be abundant this season. The river, under the influence of the late rains, has been rising, though falling to-day, with an abundance water in the channel, and the falls navigable for the largest boats to ascend. The most noticeable feature of our commerce was the departure of the great steamer Euth to New Orleans early in the week with some 2,000 tons of freight, all Kentucky products and home manufactures, including 750 hhds of leaf tobacco for New York via New Orleans. That is the first shipment direct from this port to the South for over four years. THE MONEY MARKET-Money matters are not improving, owing to two leading causes; one the continue fuctuations in currency, and the other the backwardnes The huge stern-wheeler Emperor arrived here Saturday from the Cumberland under orders, in company of four or five other boats.

The Shamrock left Nashville on Friday evening for the Ohio, and the J. T. More continues very scarce and in demand, chiefly to pay old debts, with at present but little inquiry for speculative purposes. The bankers are not receiving the ones. The Shamrock left Nashville on Friday evening for the Ohio, and the J. T. Mc-combs and Emma Floyd arrived here from the Combs and Emma Floyd arrived
